JIMMY HATLO and the MISSUS off to New York for three weeks or so. Will MOVE into their new home, one of the best in Pebble Beach, upon their return. They are deserting "WITS END" on Monte Verde for JOHN BOIT MORSE'S golf course show place which they recently purchased thru JIMMY DOUD of the Carmel Realty. The JACK MORSES incidentally are due back in New York from EUROPE about the 16th of November. Will be at the AMBASSADOR. JACK won't be in these parts for quite a while but MARGARET will come back to move out so the HATLOS can move in.................And THINKING of New York reminds us of PARKING and "NO PARKING" problems. There they put up "POSITIVELY NO PARKING" signs on all the streets. What do people do with their cars? They park them on the streets--both sides and on PARK AVE for blocks and blocks they DOUBLE PARK. They get tagged BUT ONLY on an average of about once a month and the fine is $15. Cheaper than garage rent by far. But of course it does not solve the parking problem any more than the SILLY IDEA the Carmel City council had when they banned parking altogether in front of and ACROSS the street from the new post office. Is there any other US post office in the country where you can't LOAD or UNLOAD for even five minutes. Parking ou South 5th and East Dolores is near to impossible too. BETCHA the C.C. changes that reg. soon. On the whole tho, the P.O. change is an improvement. NICE of the P.O.PEOPLE to move the town's ONLYMAIL BOX to Fortier's corner. Now maybe DOC FORTIER will put a stamp machine near by .... OLLIE BROOK of LOS LAURELES LODGE in the Peninsula Community Hospital, doing well we hear ....

GOV. EARL WARREN appointed state chairman of the 1952 MARCH OF DIMES. Drive will last longer this year, the country has been hit by polio in tremendous force this year. Starts Jan 2 and continues thru the month. Remember to give. IT CAN HIT YOU ....Among the visitors to the SPECTATOR office this week was GEORGE FRANCIS, publisher of FLAIR for writing. On behalf of Mr. Rayne we thank Mr. FRANCIS for his remarks, and DEREK, on behalf of the SPECTATOR, we thank you. Just thought you'd like the comments of another publisher, as you have already had ours--And he does not owe you even a debt of gratitude as we do................Brig. Gen. DAWLEY back in Valley home after fishing trip in Canada. While East, visited two married daughters................ GEORGE YATES, the Investment Trust man, to move into new building on Sixth, next to Davies & Co................Another tenant for same building has arrived in town .... Seen lunching at BOB BLAKE'S new Copper Room at the MISSION INN in Monterey last Tuesday were SPECTATOR readers JESS COE, LLOYD OWENS, FRED FARR, CARMEL MARTIN, JR., IVIN MERRILL & DR. DUDLEY SANFORD. Note to our circulation dept: There were plenty of other people there too and they probably never heard of the SPEC. Better hang around. Besides the meals are good too................DR. & MRS. EDWARD McCORMICK off for CORONADO where ED will attend a medical convention...............HARRISON GODWIN is in LOVE--with his new place in the Valley. It's way up in the air--up above ROBLES DEL RIO. A series of wonderful views, lots of acreage for horses, a comfortable house where MR. & MRS. can get away from the PINE INN in town........

........Carmel may not have a Chamber of Commerce but it's sure getting promoted in a big way--and the right way. Shoppers with LEISURE TIME and the BETTER class of visitors are being wooed. One example is the mailing piece reproduced in this week's issue. Reaching the right people pays off, hurts no one here. An example is the $2500 in XMAS sales made last July to one customer from Pasadena by one of our gift shops. That customer came down from SF for a couple of days and stayed three weeks, liked the town and the shops............ .....Another promotion for Carmel is a MARDI GRAS planned in February. It's one of the projects that will come under the wing of a new Peninsula Committee officially launched last Friday at a luncheon at the BEACH CLUB. $10,000 is being raised to promote the Peninsula as an all year resort. Promotion director of the group is JEHANNE MONTEAGLE of Carmel. ....Incidentally the Monterey Peninsula Chamber of Commerce needs a new calendar. A recent BALLOT sent

COUNTY FAIR NOTES

The Lost and Found Department still has some garments left which have not been called for since the Fair. Persons should come to the office and identify them and they will be returned.

Mrs. Frank Wilkinson, Chairman of the Floriculture Dept., is sending out a questionnaire as to criticisms and changes in the flower show. Any suggestions and ideas would be most welcome.

During the construction of the Horse Show barns, considerable lumber and other material has accumulated and same will be sold to the highest bidder.

The entire grounds will be in Kikuyu African grass for the coming year according to the plans of the Board of Directors, and the grounds are now in the process of being prepared. The Farmer's Mercantile Co. of Salinas is donating the equipment for the job.

Studies are being made to improve the Horse Show Arena, the Hunt Club, and possibly building a kitchen for the Auditorium building.

Suggestions and ideas for improvements should be sent to Fred S. McCargar, Box 1151, Monterey, Monterey County Fair.

With Col. John R. Wright presiding, the annual dinner of the Monterey Peninsula Stamp Club and election of officers of the Club will be held at Pine Inn, Carmel, this Sunday, November 4, at 1:30. Reservations at $2.00 per plate may be made with Mrs. Peter J. Ferrante, secretary, 7-6378.

Guests will be welcome. Annual dues are payable. The nominating committee consisting of Peter J. Ferrante, chairman, General E. S. Adams, and E. D. Yount, will make its report. Officers for the ensuing year will be elected.

WIN AND ED EDGERTON

The recent activities of Carmel's Win and Ed Edgerton in teaching Square and Folk dancing in Mexico City have been officially praised as "an important cultural effort" which helped improve friendships between Mexicans and Americans," the SPECTATOR learned this week.

In a letter to Mr. Edgerton, Cultural Attache Philip Raine at the American Embassy in Mexico City said officials there were looking forward to an early return visit of the Edgertons, professional square-dance callers. They hope to leave in the next few weeks for another six-months sojourn in Mexico.

Several Mexican papers hailed the work of the Edgertons as an important contribution to US-Mexican good will. They stayed most of the time at Cuernavaca, 40 miles from Mexico City, commuting to the capital daily.

They knew they were really welcomed, Ed Edgerton recalled this week, when the Chess Club changed the night of its meetings in order not to conflict with a Square Dancing Class. He praised the Mexicans as warm and hospitable and hoped arrangements could be made in a few weeks for their return. Mr. Raine's letter noted that officials at the Embassy in Mexico City would do everything possible to expedite the return of Win & Ed.

REPUBLICAN WOMEN TO HEAR TICKLE

The current status of political groups in the West will be the subject of an address by Senator Edward H. Tickle before the Monterey Peninsula Republican Woman's Club next Tuesday, Nov. 6, at 2 p.m., in the Carmel Woman's Club Building.

Discussion will follow the address, several members being delegated to speak for five minutes on necessary procedure to insure a strong campaign. The talks will concern details of prec inct work, registration, etc.

The meeting will be opened for questions after each talk, guided by Mrs. Carl Nuetzel. All interested persons have been invited to participate in the meeting.

AUDUBON PRESENTS HOWARD L. ORIANS

On next Monday evening, November 5, at 8 o'clock, the Audubon Society presents the first of this season's Screen Tours--Mr. Howard L. Orians in his colored motion picture, LAKELORE. This lecture and the following four in the series will be given at Sunset School Auditorium, Carmel.

By vocation an ordained minister of the Evangelical Church in Milwaukee, Howard L. Orians is by avocation a "serious amateur" in nature photography. He has been active in the Milwaukee Audubon Society, and has been president and director of the Wisconsin Society of Orthinology. He has devoted himself not to what is rare and unusual in nature, but to the flashing wings outside his study window, the wildlife inhabiting Lake Michigan nearby, both upon its waters and along its shores. His studies of waterfowl, particularly during the winter season, are considered to be among the finest ever made.

Tickets for the series of five Screen Tours are on sale at the Burlwood Shop, Carmel; Pacific Grove Museum; and in Monterey at Wurzmann Typewriter Exchange, 459 Alvarado, Blair Studios on Fisherman's Wharf, and at the Poor Scholar Book Shop, Polk and Hartnell Streets.

They may be obtained also from Mr. R. H. Wells, treasurer, Route 1, Box 671, Carmel, or from any member of the Society. Tickets may also be purchased on the nights of the lectures, at the Sunset box office, either for the season or for the single lecture. Special rates are given to students as listed in the advertisement this issue.

Members and their friends are invited to participate in a dinner for Mr. Orians at the Pine Inn preceding the lecture. Notification should be given to Mrs. Isabelle Terhune, telephone 7-6028.

THERE WERE MORE THAN 40 CHILDREN at the Lions Club Hallowe'en party at the Mission Ranch Tuesday night, but the photographer was convinced that more than half of them belonged to Lion Ted Fehring as every time he took a picture, the subjects seemed to be named Fehring. Above, the youngest of the covey, Julie, looks over simian Sidney Trevett with skeptical appraisal. The party, an annual event, was arranged by Lions Joe Hudder and Howard Levinson.

POT LUCK SUPPER PLANNED BY HIGH SCHOOL PTA

The Carmel High School PTA is planning a Pot Luck supper for its first meeting of the year. Next Wednesday, November 7, is the date, six o'clock is the time, and the place is to be the High School cafeteria. Members of the PTA Board have suggested jokingly that "Meet and Eat" be the theme for the evening. Actually the hope is that the supper will provide a pleasant occasion and opportunity for all parents of high school students in Carmel to become acquainted with each other and with their children's instructors.

A movie taken at the school, showing various high school activities and featuring the students themselves as actors, will be shown during the evening to the accompaniment of music provided by the High School Band.

MUSICAL ART CLUB TO HEAR CAROL STARR

Members of the Musical Art Club are anticipating a real treat when they listen to the concert tomorrow at 8 p.m. in the Carmel Art Gallery.

Gifted Carol May Starr will be presented in a concert of folk songs and ballads. Since childhood Carol May has made a special study of folk music--collecting, arranging, and singing the ballads of many lands.

Miss Starr has a soprano voice and plays her own accompaniments on a specially designed harp, a copy of a famous and beautiful harp owned by a king of ancient Ireland.

EIGHT to the BAR

By ROSS WORSLEY

Have you ever heard a Goddess sing? Well I did in the person of Eileen Farrell in Pacific Grove on Tuesday, October 28. (Her only other Western appearance was in Portland, Ore.)

The third dimension, personality, so-called, was left out of this superb recital; we heard only the glorious voice and the song.

Eileen Farrell's instrument is a magnificent one, opulent, resonant, and colored by the warmth and intelligence of a great artist.

She sang a varied, difficult, and well chosen program with an ease and an insight that permitted the listener to lose himself in spernal sound without the intrusion of mannerisms or extraneous interpretations. Her tone was powerful and resonant without the edginess so often innate with big voices. There were ravishing pianissimos and mezzo fortes. The Brahms Waldeinsamkeit was very moving; the Pace, Pace Mio Dio from La Forza del Destino made one feel that this singer would be a superb Leonore or Aida, and since she is a very young dramatic soprano, she may essay these roles. Her low register could be the envy of any contralto now before the public.

Strangely enough the audience was cool, and warmed only to the cliches of recital literature; I am certain these encores were chosen through Madame Farrell's awareness of the audience's demands.

Let us hope that more artists of this calibre grace our local concert platform--and may their high standards remain unscathed by the demands of suburban Babbitry.

Incidentally, Eileen Farrell may be heard on RCA Victor records in the Five Wagner songs (Gedichte Cycle) and in Act three, scene three, of Wagner's Siegfried complete; Columbia records offer a program of Irish Songs.

TWO SHAVIAN COMEDIES AT THE 'HILL'

As a sort of super-duper double feature, the Hill is showing G. B. Shaw's two screen comedies, "Pygmalion" and "Major Barbara" tonight through Monday.

Rounding out the week on the Hill screen Tuesday through Thursday will be the French updating of Romeo and Juliet--"The Lovers of Verona," a new import remarkable for the eloquence of its camera work.

MUSICAL ART CLUB HOLDS BOARD MEETING

The Musical Art Club held its monthly board meeting last Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Hopkins in Monterey with about 15 members present.

Plans for coming programs were discussed and reports from the various committees given. A short musical followed with Angie Machado playing a group of numbers on the piano.

ANSWER TO THIS WEEK'S

WHO IS IT?

The collective names of Big Bob Robinson and Little Bob Mills represent, to most Peninsulites, a total personality composed of two separate personalities joined by a conjunction. Big and Little Bobs--also called The Bobs, The Two Bobs, The Double Bobs--are known to most people who go out evenings or read the newspapers as the pair who have made a twin career of calculated inzanity.

Esconced in their baliwick at the upper reaches of the beautiful Carmel Valley they run the Carmel Valley Country Club with combination of delicatesse and Barnum & Bailey. The guest eating a delicious dinner in the quiet, preoccupied atmosphere of the lovely Panorama Dining Room would never suspect that a few yards away, in the Old San Francisco Room, a character named Mad Mayberry may be playfully gouging out the eyes of Little Bob in a mock love scene accompanied by Sasha-The-Red-White-and-Blue Russian on the piano, or that anyone of eight or nine different and extraordinary acts put on by the staff, from chef to dishwiper, may be ensuing. The guest would never suspect, unless he'd been there before. Frequently the guest becomes so involved that he takes off his shoes, hogs the footlight, and then the Bobs beam with pleasure. They theorize that a guest is never so happy as when he's enjoying himself.

These theories which pay off in fat bar receipts and dinner tabs have been tested before by the Bobs. However not everyone would have the enerby to go through a season which resembles a continuous performance of "Hellzapoppin." Back in the days of the Carousel when the Bobs burst into fame as the most indefatigable party-givers not barring Elsa Maxwell and Pearl Mesta, a three times weekly change of decor of the place was routine. Chinese Night and Mexican Night became gustatory bywords for Tuesday and Thursday and if a favorite patron brought a cold they gave a special party in its honor. Though the accent at the Bobs' new bohemia has been on new and better vaudeville, the recent announcement of Italian Night heralds a return to party-givings as a sideline at least.

Most people assume that this team like Amos'n'Andy, Olsen and Johnson, and ham'n 'eggs has been going on forever. Actually the Bobs were born in distant parts and joined forces only shortly after the war.

Big Bob is a Fresno product, a U.C. botany major with a flair for art, and former member of the water polo team. During six and one half years in the AAF, including overseas duty in England and the Mediterranean, he became a major in AF intelligence, specializing in cryptography. He still cannot bear to look at alphabet soup. His special talent, however, has been his educated green thumb which he has put to work at odd jobs from planning and supervising the San Francisco Exposition's gardens and walkways to landscaping the Country Club with bizarrely beautiful floral trim. He also once was a bond salesman, gift buyer for I. Magnin & Co., and champion egg blower of Fresno 4-H.

Little Bob was born in Scotland, moved to Pittsburgh, USA, where he attended University of Pittsburgh, majoring in psychology. A member of the 1935 Olympic Swimming Team, he did not place, but won attention as the most pigeon toed member of the squad. Prior to World War II he toured the world with the Michael Fokine Ballet, then opened his own dance school in Pittsburgh. Next he took another world tour with the Navy, as chief radar yeoman, picked up a legful of shrapnel which put an end to his professional dancing. His chief interests today are the bar's cash register, his vaudeville lineup for the week, and a backyard zoo which includes performing pigeons, ducks, rabbits, a wild cat, chickens, turkeys, and peacocks.

The deux Roberts met shortly after the war in a brokerage office where each was getting bored with life. They quit simultaneously, headed for Yosemite where Big Bob signed on as maitre d'hotel and Little Bob as wine steward. It happened one day that the management found itself playing host to a rained-in hotelmen's convention and in sudden need of indoor entertainment. The two Bobs disappeared for a short time, reappearing with a conglomeration of sticks, stones, flowers, and gizmicks which they assembled into an impromptu demonstration of flower arrangement. One visiting hosteler who applauded their act was Mrs. Clarence Holman of Holmans Guest Ranch in Carmel Valley. She hired them to stage a similar series at the ranch.

Their first Holman show brought them to the attention of Mrs. Kit Whitman of Carmel. Recognizing their flair for flowers, she signed up as their agent, booked them for a tour of flower clubs throughout the United States, Cuba, and Mexico, in the course of which they gave 86 lectures. Completing their speaking tour, they returned to Holmans Guest Ranch as co-managers.

Today the Bobs are eligible to rate as a Carmel Valley institution. Their fame as irrepressible hosts and their flair for publicity have made them better known to the general public than landmarks like the Descanso Oak.

COMMUNITY CHEST DRIVE AHEAD OF LAST YEAR

Community Chest collections were more than $40,000, as of Wednesday morning, October 31.

This represents 53% of the goal of $75,055, and compares favorably with last year's drive which at the same stage had reached only 49% of a lower goal, according to this week's announcement. The general feeling now is that the drive is showing much better spirit, and the workers are getting ready for the clean-up.

Workers in many territories have not yet turned in their reports. Mrs. Marian Todd reported that many workers have confided to her that they are really enjoying their work of collecting for the Chest.
